

ABSTRACT

This invention provides a bead array counter system that combines strand displacement amplification with magnetoresistive micro sensor chips and magnetic beads. The system allows for detection of target nucleic acids in highly dilute samples. The system further provides a means to detect specific nucleic acid sequences comprising SNPs and STRs.

RECEIVED
JULY 10 2000
U.S. PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE